It was just like old times when this A list female celebrity got together with this former B list actress who is now a solid C-. They were involved in a love triangle, but the A list female celebrity wanted no part of it this week when they got together again. The C lister thought she could reignite the flame but the A lister said that she is not into women any longer and that the C lister looked awful and the most the A lister would do for her is buy her lunch. She also threw in a pack of cigarettes.

This A list celebrity was out of the spotlight for three days because of an incident at home. It seems as if she was passed an unauthorized cell phone and was using it to make contact with someone who has been out of her life for a few years now. That person is now shopping stories to the tabloids about what she told him. If you believe the guy, it is crazy stuff. Our celebrity was basically grounded.

Blind Items Revealed #40

October 20, 2014

Several months ago there was a reunion of sorts. The pair had not seen each other in many years. Most people don't even know the pair ever met, but they had, and back in the day they even did more than just meet. The woman is an A+ lister. She has been A+ list for quite some time and was at the top of the world when they first met back in the day. She was following through on a wish he had made a few years before they actually did meet. When he heard that she was going to be in his city, calls were made and they spent a night ordering room service and having sex even though she was married at the time. It was something they both wanted as far as dinner went, but the extra entertainment wasn't planned. Since that day, the A++ list celebrity she hooked up with has moved on with his life and she has moved on with hers. Rarely did they speak to each other or even attempt to contact each other. Fast forward many years and our A++ lister and A+ lister were going to be in the same city again. Not his city this time but her city. Arrangements were made and even though at the time she was involved with someone again, the two hooked up again, but this time in her hotel room and with two sets of bodyguards outside the doors. Apparently our A+ lister was on a high for a week after this meeting and talks about it constantly to the point where a few months later she was in the A++ lister's city and wanted another meeting but he was too busy to meet. For almost two weeks she refused to leave her room except for required events because she kept waiting and hoping he would come by or call and he didn't do any of it. Since that happened she has never been the same. Something happened inside her those two weeks and she rarely smiles and has just not had the spark she once had. It is as if a light went off inside her.

Did you know there is another A+ list singer out there that is just like Britney Spears? The only thing that has managed to keep this other A+list singer out of the headlines is that she is watched 24/7 much like Britney is now. Our singer was headed down a road of hair shaving and pink wig wearing but then got involved with a celebrity who saw their potential as a power couple. He loved the idea of creating a brand with her while at the same time being able to do whatever he wanted with whoever he wanted and she would never say or do anything. It is just not in her nature. Apparently she is almost dead behind the eyes and is happy just taking photos of herself and traveling the world. She would rather stay home then to have to get dressed to the level of what is expected. She would rather just watch television or talk to her friends. Her guy loves it. He goes out all of the time alone and is never asked about his life by her. Others close to her call him out, but not her.

Let me count the ways this A list singer/wannabe actor hates women. He hates when any woman makes more money than him. Even though he is a crap actor he insisted on his latest movie that he make more than any actress on the movie. When he found out an actress close to half his age was making more he threatened to walk out. He didn't because he is a wuss like that. He hated that his A list ex made more money than him and continues to make more money than him on a per day basis of actual work. He broke up with a former A+ lister because she made more money than him and he would belittle her every day about she was lucky to make that much money and what he did took skill. How come some celebrity brands of perfume succeeded beyond anyone's wildest dreams despite not being sold by a big celebrity, while others crashed and burned despite the backing of an A+ lister? Well, believe it or not, it all comes down to the formula. If it smells like crap, no matter who is selling it, no one will be buying it. The thing is though, that celebrity and his team thinks it smells just fine. They don't know about the little extra that manufacturers know about that drives big sales and not just a pleasant smell.

So, who gets the magic formulas? Well, when the celebrity perfume craze came along there was a rush to get the best formulas. All of a sudden you had these lab geeks being wined and dined by celebrities to let them have the best. Some were just outright purchased with astonishing sums of money. Hello Beyonce. Others though, were acquired the old fashioned way. Perfume casting couch? You bet.

So, who are the biggest?

There has been no one she can trust for years. Each guy she is with she thinks are just random encounters. They aren't. They are all playing a part and are paid for their role. She is kept away from any real friends. The only people allowed in her life are those being paid. None of it is real. Imagine if you have mental issues and thinking the thoughts that none of it is real, and it really isn't, but you are constantly being gaslighted and drugged so you never can see that fully for yourself. All you ever see are robotic smiling faces and being told a version of events and your life that isn't true at all. A year or so ago she had two days of clarity. Jenna Dewan and Channing Tatum are still together 10 years later. It doesn't always end up that way. This superstar is single and she's been feeling herself lately. Boys, unfortunately, have always been a blind spot. On a recent project, a 19 year old dancer caught her eye. So she went for it. They hooked up. Which was great. Until he told everyone – the crew, the other dancers. When she found out she was mortified. She freaked. Mega drama. She couldn't look at him anymore. She didn't want to see his face again, ever. Insisted on drastic changes so that he would no longer have the privilege of being associated with her and she would no longer have to be reminded of him. That's not the official reason, of course. Creative differences are always the official reason. But, behind the scenes, from people who were there, this is what everyone is talking about. Selena Gomez; Britney Spears

Apparently the one real part of this weekend performance might have something to do with the rapper giving his "singing" partner a little vial of coke during rehearsal which she thanked him for then and later. Britney Spears/G-Eazy (MTV: MVAs)

Mute the microphone, Gossipers, because this one can't go live! Sources close to this A-list singer whisper to us that's she lost her voice. 'She's never been great,' they whisper, 'but now she can't even carry a tune. She's lost every musical inkling.' As Scooby Doo says, 'Ruh roh!' Britney Spears

There have been lots of arguments recently between this permanent A list "singer" who does not really sing any longer and her management team. More and more she wants to take an extended break and they want their cash cow to keep delivering. They have been guilting her about how many jobs would be lost if she packed it in. It is not about the jobs to the team though, it is about lining their own pockets without having to do any work. Britney Spears

CDAN revealed a while ago that Britney was HIV+. BRB.

Okay, Enty Lawyer over @ CDAN posted this BI first as well as the reveal. I couldn't find it over there (CDAN's site) or anywhere else on here. Due to the sensitivity of the issue, I am sure the internet was scrubbed and some threads were deleted possibly by the mods.
